NOW, MORE THAN EVER IN AMERICA, YOUR RIGHT TO DUE PROCESS WILL DICTATE YOUR FUTURE SUCCESS OR FAILURE

In today's world, understanding your due process rights is absolutely critical in order to successfully navigate the extraordinary minefield of lurking liabilities that you will be exposed to when you become involved with any one of many common transactions and legal proceedings.

In fact, many common transactions are pre-engineered to take away your due process rights long before disputes evolve and you find out, way too late, that you have already waived some of your critical rights; many times without even knowing it!

Similarly, many legal proceedings are pre-engineered by administrative agencies and courts to dramatically favor political and private interests. The bottom line is this: Your chances of personal and business success can be dramatically increased if you understand what your due process rights are in a given situation.

Here are ten of the more common events and transactions in which you can be unmercifully subjected to a host of unfair and deceptive practices and/or subject yourself to unnecessary liabilities.

1. Applying for Credit
2. Using Credit or Debit Cards
3. Financing a Major Purchase
4. Signing a Personal Guarantee
5. Opening a Bank Account
6. Dealing Through a Broker
7. Waiving a Legal Right
8. Refusing Certified Mail
9. Hiring an attorney
10. Filing or Answering a Lawsuit

Also, here are ten common legal proceedings where private and political agendas are often implemented in order to restrict or remove your ability to assert your due process rights:

1. Foreclosures and Evictions
2. Traffic Citations
3. Bankruptcies
4. Divorce Proceedings

5. Custody & Child Support Proceedings
6. Collection Actions
7. Employment Terminations
8. Probate & Estate Settlements
9. Personal Injury Cases
10. Arrests

In all of these common transactions and legal proceedings, a “perfect storm” can evolve that immediately puts your “life, liberty, or property” at substantial risk. A host of dangerous private and political agendas are in motion to make windfall profits by removing your due process rights.

Take some time to learn about these agendas and take a stand against them. Again, whether for yourself, your family members, your employees, and/or your business associates; please join and support what is likely to become the key social justice movement in modern times: the restoration of constitutionally-guaranteed due process rights in America.
