

The Due Process Advocate

Edward H. Smith, Publisher
497 Hooksett Rd. #395
Manchester, NH 03104

"No Person shall be . . . deprived of life, liberty, or property without the due process of law"
- Fifth Amendment of the United States Constitution

DUE PROCESS EDUCATION IS NOW MORE CRUCIAL THAN EVER

Until recently, few Americans realized or understood what a profound effect "due process" (i.e. the constitutional right to be heard in a fair legal proceeding) would have on their lives.

All of a sudden, social justice movements are taking center stage in America as self-serving private and political agendas are being exposed. Hard-working Americans are now finding out just how much of their freedom, independence, well-being, and money is being sacrificed and lost to line the pockets of the politically-connected. Even the courts are "looking the other way" all too often.

Currently, there is hardly a family in the United States that isn't facing one or more serious legal or financial issues. The pressures of day-to-day living are increasing with more demanding regulatory and compliance requirements for all Americans. As a result, family members are experiencing, in just about every community across the country, the endless proliferation of criminal and civil legal actions; as the legal arena means "big money" for prosecutors and attorneys. And the money comes fast and easy for prosecutors and attorneys when defendants don't know or assert their due process rights!

Most American share the belief that education is crucial in American. Ironically, however, our school systems aren't teaching due process. Young men and women are graduating from secondary schools without knowing or understanding their due process rights; and it is costing them dearly as they confront the legal and financial realities of aggressive capitalism and politics in their everyday lives. Tragically, most Americans "don't stand a chance" when they are thrust into the legal system.

For these reasons, The "Due Process 101" Education Program was developed. Due Process 101 is both available and affordable for anyone whose due process rights have become urgent, or crucial, to their personal or financial well-being.

Hopefully, you share our belief that the time for universal due process education has arrived. Whether for yourself, your family members, your employees, and/or your business associates; please join and support what is likely to become the key social justice movement in modern times: the restoration of constitutionally-guaranteed due process rights in America.