- Fifth Amendment of the United States Constitution

Your Due Process Rights Are Now More Important Than Ever Before!

A vast majority of individuals believe that their due-process rights are "automatically protected" in America. Please understand that nothing could be farther from the truth! In today's world, if you don't understand and take the proactive steps to protect your own due process rights, you can find yourself unmercifully exposed to liabilities that you didn't even know existed. Due process is the constitutional right to be heard in a fair legal proceeding whenever you are dealing with a government-related legal action. Knowing and demanding your due process rights is absolutely critical in order to deal successfully with just about any legal issue:

Collection Actions - Credit Repair - Foreclosures & Evictions
Divorce & Child Support Issues - Wrongful Employment Terminations
Accidents & Personal Injury Claims - Motor Vehicle Violations
Criminal Citations - Arrests - Restraining Orders
Business Disputes - Regulatory & Compliance Complaints
Malpractice Claims - Property Liens & Attachments
Bankruptcies - and much, much more!

Every day in America, thousands of unsuspecting individuals are blind-sided by unfair and deceptive practices employed by the same government representatives and officials that they believed were supposed to be protecting them!

Why does this happen? Government agencies at all levels know that the average American simply does not know what his or her due process rights are in a given situation. Once person "waives" (usually unintentionally) his or her due process rights, that person can be left defenseless against a host of losses, liabilities, penalties, fines, and/or unnecessary costs and fees. Don't let this happen to you!

Every single class of individuals in America has unique due process rights: parents, teachers, disabled persons, employees, minorities, property owners, taxpayers, students, senior citizens, veterans, retired people, patients, and many, many more.

Please take the time to learn about the due process rights that are crucial to the well-being of you and your family. . . and please join the movement to restore due process rights for all Americans.
